

Spring Heritage Garden Workshop

Low Water–Use Landscaping Made Easy

ATTENTION HOME OWNERS

The North & South Yakima Conservation Districts would like to invite you to attend a

FREE WORKSHOP

March 23rd, 2019

At the Yakima Area Arboretum
1401 Arboretum Dr, Yakima, WA 98901

9:00 AM — 12:00 PM

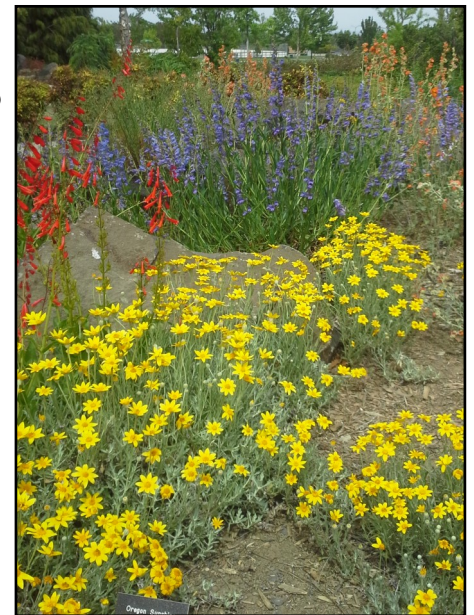

Featuring:

Heather Wendt, Heritage Garden Program Coordinator, and Ann Autrey, Heritage Garden Program Assistant

Heather and Ann are excited to introduce the Heritage Garden Program to the Yakima area. This program is dedicated to creating water-wise landscapes and gardens in the arid portion of the Columbia River Basin of Washington State. In addition to water conservation, Heritage Gardens incorporate and honor unique natural and cultural features of this area. Heather and Ann will take you on a virtual tour of established Heritage Gardens and share information and resources on how you can create your own unique garden.

Jeff DeBlasio - Outside Sales, Irrigation, HD Fowler Company, Yakima

Jeff will present the basics on drip or micro irrigation, showing us on how to provide water where and when it is needed. Micro Irrigation (also called drip irrigation, low volume irrigation and low flow irrigation) is an irrigation method with lower pressure and flow than a traditional sprinkler system utilizing pipe, filters, valves, tubing and emitters. Utilizing this effective irrigation practice can improve yield and quality, minimize water use and protect natural resources.
